New Officers Take Over Jobs With County as New Year of 1951 Comes In, Starting Work on January 2nd

Randall county has two new offices set up as the result of the 1950 census, and a few new officials as the result of the summer primaries held in July and August of last year. Walter Rogers became Congressman from the 18th Congressional District, having defeated Ben Guill, Republican, who was selected in May over 10 Democrats.

H. C. Pipkin of Amarillo became District Attorney, having defeated two opponents in the July primary. Mrs. Ruth Adcock Hill became County Treasurer, succeeding Mrs. Elzie Price, whom Mrs. Hill defeated in July.

Glenn W. Dowlen became County Commissioner of Precinct No. 3, succeeding D. S. Hill, who was not a candidate for re-election.

Two offices were divided as a result of the federal census which was held in April, showing Randall county with a population of 13,450.

The office of District Clerk was separated from that of District and County Clerk. Ethel D. Mullins was elected District Clerk without opposition, while T. H. Lair was continued as County Clerk without opposition.

Bill Money was elected to the office of Tax Assessor and Collector when that office was divided from that of Sheriff. The office will remain at the same place in the court house.

Sheriff M. E. Cantrell moved his office from the court house to the fire station, which was recently bought by the county from the city of Canyon. B. F. Machen, Justice of the Peace, will office with Sheriff Cantrell as soon as a new fire station is erected by the city, and the present building is remodeled.

Otto White became constable of Precinct 1, in charge of the care of prisoners. He was appointed to this job by the Commissioners Court soon after his election in November. Gene McGlasson started his first term as County Attorney after having served out the unexpired term of Hayden Weaver, who resigned following the July primary.

The following are officials of Randall county in addition to those listed above: Commissioners: P. H. Baber, Clarence Beckman, C. Y. Johnson. County Judge: Burney Slack. Justices of the Peace: B. F. Machen; Mrs. W. J. Flesher. Constable: Otto White. District Judge: Henry S. Bishop. State Representative: Morris G. Cobb. State Senator: Grady Hazlewood.

New Term District Court Opened Here Monday Morning

A new session of the District Court started in Canyon Tuesday morning. Judge Henry S. Bishop was presiding with the new District Attorney H. C. Pipkin assisting the grand jury.

Due to the change over from the old office to the new District Clerk's office in the court house, the list of grand jurors was not available for publication Wednesday morning.

One civil case was tried Tuesday in district court before a petit jury.

Light Snow and Rain Falls in Canyon Tuesday

The first moisture of the year fell Tuesday, starting with a light rain Monday night and continuing with light snow throughout Tuesday. The total moisture was 22 of an inch. The moisture varied in different parts of the Panhandle, but all sections received a small amount of moisture.

The highways were slick as a result of the rain and ice, with many accidents reported at various points.

The total moisture received during 1950 was 22.73. However, most of this rainfall came during the late summer months when only row crops benefitted from the rain.

The wheat crop of 1950 was an almost total loss due to the winter drouth and the green bugs. A large acreage was planted this fall, but again the lack of rain and snow during October, November and December has practically written off the prospects for this crop in 1951.

The mercury sagged to 16 degrees above zero Tuesday as a result of the cold wave.

West Texas State Buffaloes won the Sun Bowl New Year Day battle at El Paso, defeating the powerful Cincinnati University Bearcats by a one-point score of 14 to 13. The battle was a rough one, with 16 penalties assessed against the two teams. The Buffs held off the determined stand of the Ohio crew during the last three minutes.

The fine place kicking of Roy Lee Dunn saved the day for the Buffs as he made both of his after touchdown kicks good for two points.

A few minutes before the close of the game, the Buffs had carried the ball to the Bearcats' one foot line, only to have an attempted pass go wild. A few minutes later the Bearcats were knocking at the goal line of the Buffs, but were repelled on another forward pass attempt.

Statistics of the game gave the Buffs an edge on the score, but it was a game in which the Panhandle lads had to fight for every advantage. The visitors from Ohio had an edge on forward passes and used this to the best advantage. The cold weather perhaps had something to do with the poor showing of Mayfield who had thrown passes in other games which the Buff receivers were able to hold.

Cross made both touchdowns for the Buffs, one through the line, and the other on a pass from Mayfield.

Charlie (Wire) Wright carried the ball for 135 of the 238 yards gained by the Buffaloes.

After several men had been ejected from the field because of rough stuff, there came the time in the last period when fists started to fly and all men swarmed from the benches to join their teammates on the field. Coaches from both sides plus the police soon had the situation in hand. Throughout the game, rough tactics were used by the Ohio team, according to spectators.

The Buffs were released as soon as the game was over by Coach Frank Kimbrough and his assistants to join members of their families who had accompanied them to El Paso. There was a night of rejoicing on the part of the players who had earned the right to play in the Sun Bowl. The trip back to Canyon was started at noon Tuesday by bus.

The members of both squads received gold footballs from the Sun Bowl Monday, while the Buffs received wrist watches from the college on Tuesday.

With 14 seniors making their last appearance for the Buffaloes in this game, fans are looking forward to the prospects for next year when a goodly bunch of freshmen will be eligible for the team to replace those who played their last game for the Maroon and White.

Playing their last game were: Roy Lee Dunn, Gene Mayfield, Donald Briggs, Leon Chapman, Eddie Conner, J. D. Covington, Bill Cross, Jimmie Draper, Don Tucker, Clinton Williams, Frank Wise, Bruce Womack, Charles (Wire) Wright, Deane Wright.

Road in Park To Be Paved Early in 1951

Guy Lott, district engineer for the State Highway Department, has authorized the statement that a contract will be let on either January 23 or 24 in Austin for the construction of 8½ miles of road in the Palo Duro State Park. This is the road which is so badly needed to add to the facilities of the Park. Under the present plans the road will be finished in time for the tourist business of the summer months.

When the year's business was tallied Sunday night by John McCarty it was found that 110,050 persons had entered the Palo Duro State Park during the year of 1950. They came in 29,061 cars.

This is a distinct contrast to the 85,336 persons who paid admissions in 1949, and 51,448 in 1948.

The goal for 1951 has been set at 150,000 admissions to the park.

During the early spring months, the picnic units will be improved; horseback trails will be repaired; and the park generally improved for the purpose of making it more attractive to visitors.

Special events will be increased during the year.

During recent months long horn steers and buffalo have been added to increase interest in the Park. Additional deer and elk have been promised by the State Game Department.

Hoover Presents the Views of An Isolationist in Speech

The talk by former President Herbert Hoover has been received with varied reactions. Hoover talked like an isolationist, but back of his talk there is a considerable amount of sound sense and sound reasoning.

The Reds have no doubt accepted the speech as an indication of a divided nation. Hoover followed Tom Dewey by only a few days, taking an opposite view on international problems.

The Reds have declared that we must either get out of Korea, quit Formosa and give them a seat in the United Nations, or fight an all out war.

From cold facts, we shall probably be forced out of Korea, due to the superior number of troops which the Reds are throwing at us.

While the Chiang troops on Formosa are well trained and well equipped with American arms, let it be remembered that the federalists did not fight the Reds in China, and might not do much of a job at defending the island if left to themselves.

Back of all this must be remembered the fact that China has a population of 400 millions, and that manpower means nothing to the leaders.

Yes, and back of the Reds stands Moscow, taking orders from Stalin, with his 200 or more million people, aided by the German scientists who fled to Russia, or were taken there as prisoners, because of fear of American troops. Russia is dictating the war.

Hoover would have us withdraw to the Western Hemisphere, draw a circle, and tell any bully who advances to that line that he would be whipped. By this means, we would shorten our line of defense by thousands of miles, and be on the defensive, rather than the offensive. He reasons, not without a great deal of truth, that we can expect nothing from our Allies in Western Europe. France is communistic; England is broke, and without will to fight; Western Germany cannot be trusted. If we stay on, trying to defend all of the vast territory in which there is danger, we shall soon be bled to the point of bankruptcy, argues Mr. Hoover.

On the other hand, should we withdraw, we shall leave vast stores of natural resources in the hands of the Reds, and a vast pool of manpower which might be used against us. According to the Hoover theory, Russia would have no more luck in handling this problem than we have had, and besides, she would be so far away from her source of supplies that she would have little luck in handling the situation. Violence would break out among the nations which would be subjected, argues Hoover.

Maybe Hoover is right, and maybe he is wrong. Let it be remembered that America has never been invaded, either by land or by air. If we follow the Hoover idea we shall soon be forced to use all our strength to repel invasions, by land, air and the sea.

Either way is certain to bleed the nation of its manpower, its natural resources and our finances.

We have often said, and again repeat - - why kill off a few thousand Reds in China, or in some other innocent nation which has been sucked under the influence of the Reds, while Moscow still stands and is directing the war which is threatening to wreck us? Yes, it would be a costly move to start bombing Moscow, but we will have to do just that sooner or later, so why wait?

This is just our opinion. We agree with much that Hoover has said, but see the weakness of his argument. Perhaps our ideas are just as haywire.

Speaking about economy, in connection with the Federal government, it might be a good idea to review the cases of all those who receive cash benefits for "partial" disability.

It's funny to hear certain Americans saying that the country needs F. D. R. - especially in view of what they said about him when he was here.

The stock market boomed as the President declared an emergency which leads to the suspicion that somebody expects a profit out of war.

It may surprise some Americans to know that France has employed about 100,000 men in the defense of Indo-China.

Everybody fears deflation but there are gamblers who think that inflation will help them and only hurt the others.

If thinking precedes talking, the human race would have to develop some new form of exercises for the tongue.

Despite the economic crisis there are plenty of things on the market for which we haven't the money to buy.

The isolationists now suggest that the U. S. should fight by itself - this ought to please Joe Stalin immensely.

Yes, Abner, it's all right for you to cuss officials for stupidity even if you do not understand public issues.

It is good, no doubt, to love mankind but it is better to help those around you who need assistance.

It is more blessed to give than to receive but occasionally it is comforting to be on the receiving line.

What has become of the old-fashioned reader who believed everything he saw in his favorite newspaper?

Argentina requires every tenant to plant at least one tree per acre every three years. Not a bad idea.

When a public official does as he pleases, it won't be long before he learns that people vote as they please.

The lines are about tight enough now to classify people as for this country or for Russia.

Maybe, our experts on war have some new weapons to use if the occasion requires them.

Almost every borrower can give you a good reason why the money you lend will be safe.

Private enterprise is often hamstrung by the money scavengers.

The trouble with many filing systems is the stuff they file.

New Year Does Not Have Such a Brilliant Prospect For News

We shall probably have to practice about 11 months before we can write "1951" without hesitation, or a glance at the calendar.

We talked with a business man the other day, and he was pretty badly upset about the future. This man is no more upset than we are about conditions.

Here at The Canyon News office we are confronted with a lot of problems which may turn out pretty bad in a few short months.

First of all manpower! Yes, we are not alone in this problem, but the future looks pretty drab, if this war continues, and there is little likelihood of its getting better.

Then comes advertising revenues. During 1950 we had an unprecedented volume of automobile and truck advertising. This will largely vanish as cars pass from the hands of regular dealers back to the black market. Yes, we shall have more black market operations than ever before.

Then comes higher wages. While this paper enjoyed the largest volume of business during the past year in its history, expenses ate up the prospective profits, the largest item of which was labor. We can not blame folks for wanting all the money which they can get, either in a print shop or on a farm, or in a mercantile establishment.

Yes, and shortages of all kinds are beginning to be very serious. No sooner had there become an adequate supply of printing materials, papers and inks on the market, than the source has been shut off. The same is true of all kinds of merchandise.

Yes, indeed, we have our fingers crossed when we say Happy New Year, 1951, to all of you. We sincerely hope that this world confusion will be settled during this year so that we can continue our normal lives.

Disaster Falls Heavily During the Holiday Period of 1950

It would appear that not all government surplus war material has turned out to be such a great bargain.

A number of communities have bought buildings which have been used for various purposes. Some of them have been burned, with a tragic loss of human life.

The latest "bargain" was bought by Amarillo and used for a home for old people. Ten men and women lost their lives in a fire in one of these buildings in Amarillo last week.

The people are greatly incensed against such a practice, but unless some one keeps on the job, another fire trap will likely replace the burned building. The human memory is too short.

The holiday period of 1950 will long be remembered as a most tragic one.

Tragic Mistakes of War Paid For With Lives of Young Men

Some one made a tragic mistake when they thought that the Reds of China would not come to the aid of their distressed North Korean brothers.

It is generally reported that the President and General MacArthur met in the Pacific to settle this one problem - - that of crossing the 38th line which divided South from North Korea.

If this is the true statement, a tragic blunder was made either by the President or MacArthur, or by both. Let it be remembered that wars are made up of tragedy, and mistakes. This mistake was not the first or the last which will be made in time of wars.

The young men pay by their lives for the mistakes of their elders.

If the Chinese Nationalists had shown as much fighting spirit on the mainland as they exhibit on Formosa the Communists might not have control of China.

We see where the Army surplus stores are still selling the stuff that we didn't need after the last and haven't got for the threatening war.

The question for West Germans, it seems to us, is whether they want to fight the Russians or work the Siberian mines.

It is easy to realize that the present differs from the past but harder to understand that this process continues as our present becomes our past.

Not being commercial but in a helpful spirit we suggest that many people would enjoy a year's subscription to The Canyon News.

If the United States had given the Chinese Nationalists twice as much military equipment the Chinese Reds would be better armed.

It may sound silly but be careful about fires in your home - too many people are being burned to death.

Life includes the known and the unknown, with the latter developing, it seems, faster than the former.

J. Howard McGrath, Attorney General, stirred gossip that anti-trust heat may be coming off big U. S. companies when he asked the court to postpone action against General Electric Co. for five years on the ground that companies need to concentrate on war work. This move came a few days before announcement that Charles Wilson had agreed to re-enter Government service. Industry now is wondering if other big suits will be postponed.

Elpidio Quirino, President of the Philippine Republic, is finding that U. S. is inclined to raise the price of continued aid to his Government. American officials claim that the Philippine Government is dragging its heels on promised reforms and must either mend its ways or forsake U. S. help. Communist-led guerrillas are turning up now on islands of the Philippines formerly free of them.

Russia's military planners, going in for big battleships, aren't joining U. S. Air Force generals in consigning the navy of the future to a declining role. The Russians, as a great land power, still are not underestimating sea power in the struggle they see ahead with U. S. which they regard as an island.

George Marshall, Secretary of Defense, passing his 70th birthday, still hopes to be allowed at some point in 1951 to turn over his job to someone else. Big question is whether Mr. Truman will allow him to step down. The President has great confidence in him.

Just because he's a human dynamo doesn't mean that everything he has on is charged.

Physician Says Mentally Sick Cause of Wars

DETROIT, Mich.—Dr. Robert S. Drews, a Detroit psychiatrist who has just completed a three-month study of mental health in Europe, contends all the world's presidents, dictators, and kings should be stretched out on a couch and psychoanalyzed before being allowed to take office.

"The history of war and chaos is the history of mentally sick people," Dr. Drews said. He had a number of examples to prove his point.

He said the hostility, aggression, and mental instability of existing leaders in many countries has spread like a contagion to the mental make-up of people all over the world.

Remedies Suggested

He suggested these remedies for wars and dangers of war that are caused by the instability of political leaders:

1. All persons in political life should be subjected to "rigorous examinations in the structures of their personalities before being entrusted with the destinies of nations."

2. Mental hygiene must be taught in schools all over the world—as it is being taught already to some extent in the United States.

3. A universal "auxiliary language," such as Esperanto, must be adopted to make international and personal meetings easier.

4. More "interpersonal relationships" must be arranged to bring people together across national frontiers on a "me-and-you basis", instead of formal international conferences.

"What is needed now, immediately," he said, "is a dynamic program of education people to live one with another, instead of for, against, or away from another. To live for another person is emotional; to live against another is hostility; to live away from another is isolationism."

Research for Book

Dr. Drews called attention to Napoleon, Caesar, Hitler, Mussolini, and "as far as we know, Stalin, too—all of them were neurotic, mentally sick people."

He said such leaders came to power in Europe "in a history of essentially single individuals sincerely striving for conquest and supremacy. They very often were powerful, but immature, and very often neurotic in their leadership."

Dr. Drews went to Europe last June with a group of professors from Wayne University. Later he left the group to conduct individual research for material on his forthcoming book, "Mental Hygiene In The Changing World."

He and his wife visited virtually every western European nation in his search for material.

Woman Finds Old Bonds, Asks $250,000 From State

RICHMOND, Va.—Mrs. Bonny Walker, 76, of Vinton, Va., recently found in her attic two $1,000 bonds issued more than 75 years ago by the commonwealth of Virginia. She wants the state to redeem them for the $250,000 she figures they're worth—calculated at six per cent compound interest.

The commonwealth is flabbergasted—but not contemptuous. If it legally owes Mrs. Walker anything, it intends to pay.

Mrs. Walker says the bonds were issued in 1861. The date isn't very legible—it might be 1864. If the bonds were issued in 1864, they aren't worth the paper they're printed on—the 14th amendment to the U. S. constitution says southern states may not make good any obligations incurred to finance the civil war.

"All I know," Mrs. Walker wrote Gov. John S. Battle, "is that the bonds say 'Be it known that there is due from the commonwealth of Virginia unto the bearer the sum of $1,000, redeemable after January 1, 1899, with interest at 6 per cent per annum.'"

"Now, it's after 1899, and I'm the bearer."

Koreans Send $50 to Girls Whose GI Dad Died in War

COLLINGDALE, Pa.—The two little girls, whose father wrote the now famous "Dear Joannie and Rosemarie" letter, have received a letter of sympathy and $50 contributed by nine Koreans.

In September nine Koreans appeared at the Tokyo office of Newsweek magazine and said they wanted to let Mrs. McCormick know "there are good and decent people in Korea as well as bad ones."

Explaining that they wished the $50 to go toward the children's education, the Koreans wrote to Mrs. John McCormick:

"As your brave husband said in that letter there are many bad people who bring misery and destruction to humanity. However, we should like to tell you that there are a great many good and courageous people, of which Mr. McCormick was certainly an outstanding example. It is the effect of these good people and under his guidance that keeps the world going in spite of the evil done by bad people. This is one reason for our trust in God."

Enrollment in U.S. Colleges Shows Big Drop in 1950

CINCINNATI, O.—Dr. Raymond Walters, president of the University of Cincinnati, and nationally known statistician of higher education, reported that nearly 75 per cent of 492 approved American colleges and universities reported decreases in enrollment in 1950. Nearly 58 per cent recorded considerably smaller freshman classes.

This fall's drop continues a downward trend begun last year from the postwar peak. Dr. Walters attributed the decline to the departure from the campus last June of the large 1950 graduating classes, a major proportion of whom were veterans of World War II, and also to the small freshman classes, diminished in consequence of the low birth-rate of the 1930s.

Total full-time attendances at the five largest state universities reporting were: University of California, 38,989; University of Illinois, 23,500; University of Minnesota, 22,000; Ohio State University, 20,500 and University of Michigan, 19,000.

The five largest universities under private control reporting in today's study show these estimated full-time totals: Columbia University, 22,050; University of Southern California, 20,153, with more than 50 per cent veterans; New York University, 20,000; Boston University, 11,200, and University of Pittsburgh, 10,067.

Other representative universities under private control report these estimated full-time totals: Harvard University, 5,000; University of Chicago, 6,750; Johns Hopkins University, 2,400; University of Detroit, 8,720; Cornell University, 9,600; University of Pennsylvania, 9,850, and Vanderbilt University, 3,175.

Among municipal institutions reporting estimated full-time totals are: Colleges of the City of New York, 26,376; University of Cincinnati, 6,162; University of Louisville, 3,224; University of Toledo, 2,840; University of Wichita, 2,500, and University of Akron, 2,020.

Methodist Pastor Recoups Losses in Traffic Arrest

MADISON, Tenn.—The Rev. James H. Elder—recently recouped some losses in a traffic arrest.

Miss Alice Ann Baker asked Dr. Elder to conduct her marriage ceremony and he in turn asked to meet the bridegroom. That proved a little embarrassing because the young man turned out to be state highway patrolman Walter Toone, who only two days earlier had arrested Dr. Elder for speeding.

Dr. Elder told him: "I am searching for the longest and most agonizing ritual in the Methodist church. Of course, I'll ask a long list of questions, but will break in before you can answer any of them."

"The fee? It'll be $14.95 plus costs. And if you are ever brought before me again, I'll double it."

Yugoslav Magazine Jibe Brands Soviet 'Snowwhite'

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia—Snowwhite is poking fun at Russia these days in the Yugoslav humorist publication Jez.

In one, Snowwhite encountered seven dwarfs. The dwarfs took her home and fed her "milk and honey, shones and gasoline, heavy industry and aluminum, spy trials and other dainties." Soon says Jez, Snowwhite grew a bit plump, developed a double chin. The dwarfs lost weight. But, according to its story, the dwarfs dwell happily, because they see only the other dwarfs and feel equal because they are of the same, reduced size.

As last reported, Snowwhite was looking less like a lost and lonesome princess than a good fat step-mother. To Jez, Russia has become its version of Snowwhite; the dwarfs are the Cominform countries which once loved their mistress.

1850 White House Lacked Dictionary, Even a Bible

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Up until 1850 the White House lacked a dictionary, even a Bible.

Start of the White House library had its inception in the discovery 100 years ago in the middle of a cabinet dispute on terminology that the presidential resident possessed neither a dictionary nor a Bible.

Francis De Sales Ryan, a veteran of thirty years with the Treasury, turned up the anecdote.

President Millard Fillmore and the treasury secretary, Thomas Corwin, were arguing over a word in some proposed legislation. This was in the fall of 1850. When Corwin suggested that a dictionary would settle the issue, the President replied:

"I am sorry to inform you that there is no dictionary in the White House. The only dictionary in the government service, as far as I know, is in the library of the treasury."

Mrs. Abigail Fillmore, however, was a lover of literature—and she decided to do something about the matter. She gave a series of dinner parties, as a result of which appropriate legislation was passed to sanction a White House library.

U. S. facilities for mental care are called incredibly poor.

NOW! LET'S ALL BUY BONDS!

"Tex" Rickard was from Texas. That of course accounts for his nickname. He was city marshal at Henrietta, went to the Alaska gold fields and ran a big gambling establishment there and, later, in Goldfield, Nevada. Then he became the greatest promoter that boxing ever saw.

While Texas was running the gambling hall in the Klondike, a sorehead sent word to him, "Come out on the street and I'll shoot you." Rickard stopped weighing gold dust long enough to reply, "I'm a gambler and I play percentages. I am not going out; the percentage is against me."

"But let him come in and I'll shoot him; I'll lay him long odds on that."

The man didn't call Tex's bet.

Col. Henry Watterson, the Kentucky editor, was a great admirer of Abraham Lincoln, whom he had known personally. As a newspaperman, Watterson was present for Lincoln's first inauguration. The editor gave, many times, a lecture which eloquently eulogized the rail-splitter. Which makes all the more interesting this comment in Watterson's autobiography:

"Much has been written of the humble birth and iron fortune of Abraham Lincoln. He had no such obstacles to overcome as either Andrew Jackson or Andrew Johnson."

"Jackson, a prisoner of war, was liberated, a lad of 16, from the British pen at Charleston without a relative, a friend or a dollar in the world, having to make his way upward through the most aristocratic community of the country."

"Johnson, equally friendliness and penniless, started as a poor tailor in a rustic village."

Watterson added that Lincoln "was scarcely worse off than most young fellows in his neighborhood, first in Indiana and then in Illinois."

What power! What service! What pleasure! What possibilities of good! The great tanks are full of high test gasoline made ready to do the bidding of men. Through the long centuries the Creator of all good things was making ready the pools of crude oil and gas beneath the earth's crust. Man, the child of the Eternal, found the oil ready for his use. Up from the depths it was lifted, then through the distillation processes it moved that it should be adapted to the myriad purposes of the minds and needs of human life. Tested and tried, perfected by these tests, refined and piped to the areas of service, here are the multiplied horsepower servants of men. How grateful and how glad are we that the gas is ready and made dependable!

Here is our parable of human life. Up through the long centuries God has been perfecting the human body, mind and soul. They are ready for a multiple task, so far as native powers are concerned. But the body must be trained to obey the will of the mind; the muscles must be strengthened and taught by habit and repeated exercise; it must be kept healthy by proper food and thoughtful care; it must be tested by daily living. Is your body a good servant? Or have you allowed it to have its own way so that its demands for pleasure and for indulgence have made it a dangerous organism? The human body must be as carefully tested as the high power gasoline; then it must be kept under control, or explosion and runaway power will be the undoing of both body and soul.

Even more powerful is the mind or soul. Who knows what a man with a trained and disciplined mind can accomplish? A clean and wholesome soul may command the earth and the sea and the sky. A reverent mind may think the thoughts of God and join the Cosmic Mind in the control of the forces of nature and may direct the social powers of human society.

Your Church stands for a clean and well-trained body. Your religion will help develop high purposing minds. Your fellowship with God will make you a safe master of the destinies of children and of all life. Are you ready for the testings and the temptations that fall to men every day? Join your fellow men at Church next Sunday and lay your powers of body and of mind and of soul upon the altars of service, to men and to God.

New Operation Cures Deformity Of Heart Valve

DENVER, Colo.—"I climbed a 40-foot tower at 10,000 feet," the father of a large family proudly told a group of heart specialists.

Only a few weeks earlier this same man with a case record of being hospitalized twenty-nine times because of heart trouble told his doctor, "Doctor, if you threw a thousand dollars at my feet I couldn't bend down to pick it up without fear that I'd pass out."

What had brought about this radical change in a man who was practically doomed to invalidism as result of a heart condition?

It dates back almost two years ago when Dr. Charles Bailey, famous Philadelphia surgeon, literally poked his finger through the patient's heart, giving surgery a new operation to combat mitral stenosis, a deformity of the mitral valve of the heart.

First of Its Kind

The first of its kind in the vast Rocky Mountain region was performed at Denver's National Jewish Hospital, pioneer, free, non-sectarian tuberculosis institution opened in Denver more than a half-century ago. A total of four mitral stenosis operations have been undertaken so far by NJH surgeons.

"Although we are a hospital primarily devoted to the treatment of tuberculosis and allied chest diseases," a hospital medical spokesman said, "we know what concerns the heart must concern the lungs."

The mitral valve is located on the left side of the heart and lies between the left auricle and left ventricle. The function of this vital valve is to allow blood to flow from the left auricle to the left ventricle so that the body gets its quota of the heart's blood supply.

Mitral stenosis occurs when the valve gets deformed, impeding the proper flow of blood. Briefly it can be compared to the improper working of an automobile valve.

Delicate Operation

The operation can be explained simply although its skillful execution is a matter of highly specialized technique.

The surgeon's knife is attached to his finger. Carefully he inserts his finger into the left auricle, feeling for the mitral valve. Then, when he feels the valve, he allows the knife to slip past his finger tip and in one motion opens the valve so that once more the blood can properly nourish the body.

"This operation cannot always be performed," the NJH spokesman cautioned. "It is of extreme importance that many tests of the patient's heart be made before surgery."

But a mitral stenosis operation could be given at NJH to this Colorado father who now can climb a forty-foot tower—Thanks to the skill of surgery that goes deep into the pulsating heart.

First 1950 Grand Canyon Trip Ends Without Accident

GRAND CANYON, Ariz. — The first Grand Canyon expedition of 1950 was completed without serious accident.

Otis Martson, William Belknap and Wilson Taylor arrived at Pierce's Ferry after a 346 mile trip through the mile deep canyon.

The trip was made in a power boat, the Hudson. Similar river trips have cost 10 lives since the first was tried in 1869.

Seven originally started the trip. Joseph Deslodge and Guy Forcier left the party as planned. Ed Hudson and his son, Ed, Jr., left the party when one of the expedition's two boats, the Esmeralda, had to be abandoned in the mile deep Grand Canyon. Both were rescued by helicopter. The craft carrying the elder Hudson crashed on its attempt to lift him out of the gorge and he was slightly injured. After one night on a small ledge, he was plucked out of the canyon by another helicopter.

It was the intuition of Mrs. Martson that brought about the quick rescue of the Hudsons. Feeling that something was wrong with the expedition, she chartered a helicopter which sighted the Hudson's SOS in the canyon.

It was the second time a boat powered with an engine has conquered the river.

Psychologist Says Life Dull Without Troubles

BOSTON—A Boston University psychologist believes that without troubles life would be unbearably dull.

"It is impossible to achieve perfect peace of mind, and even if it were, it would be undesirable," says Dr. Wayland F. Vaughan. "Troubles make life more interesting."

"The man who meets his problems face to face, gets much more enjoyment out of life than even partial peace of mind would bring," he says. "Licking problems not only gives you guts and confidence to tackle the next ones, but it makes you a kinder and more sympathetic person."

He added, "Marriage and children brings a richness of living that surpasses any peace of mind."

Lawyer Maps a Way To Get Treasure Out of Old Pirates

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — Ralph Odom, a lawyer, has come up with a new way of making money out of hunting pirate treasure.

Odom began a hobby of drawing maps of pirate treasures when his son asked him to draw a hidden treasure chart. Now the hobby has turned into a profitable sideline.

He's selling lithographed Florida maps showing where pirates and "other more honest men" reportedly buried, or lost, 165 million dollars of their loot, largely from the Spanish Main.

Odom, a former newspaperman who is now an assistant attorney general of Florida, doesn't guarantee that each "X" marks the spot where hidden treasure lies.

"If that were so," he commented, "I'd go dig it up myself."

Odom does say that his treasure locations are based on research in the Library of Congress and other storehouses of knowledge.

Treasure definitely is being found off the Florida coast. A Miami diver brought up five 60-pound silver bars from waters near Miami early this year.

A huge pile of elephant tusks were spotted by two fishing parties off Marathon key, south of Miami in June. A diver brought up 25 of the tusks, a bar of silver and ship relics indicating a Spanish galleon.

Such names as Billy Bowlegs, Henry Morgan, Blackbeard, Jean LaFitte and Black Caesar dot the map depicting the legendary location of their bloody loot. Several notations point out that some treasure already has been found, but that much is believed to remain.

Not all of the treasure is precious metal. One "X" on the Apalachicola river in Florida's northwest panhandle shows where 1,500 gallons of rum went to the river bottom in an 1865 shipwreck. The rum "probably is in as good or better shape than ever," the chart notes.

Sergeant Finds Moocher Is Not Easy to Rebuff

RALEIGH, N. C.—A recruiting sergeant in Raleigh wanted to discourage a tobacco moocher. In fact he went to great lengths to prepare a brand that contained:

A small quantity of tobacco, five rubber bands, eight match heads, two locks of finely clipped hair—one donated by a blond and one by a brunet, a teaspoonful of lint, a dash of pencil sharpenings and the contents of one shotgun shell.

The moocher filled his pipe as usual, smoked merrily away—and returned two hours later for a refill.

N.Y. Atomic Bombing Hoax Sends Hundreds Into Panic

NEW YORK, N. Y.—A section of the Bronx was thrown into panic recently by an atomic bombing hoax.

Hundreds of people and passing motorists, within 200 yards of a Bronx apartment, heard the following announcement:

"Enemy planes are approaching New York . . . All residences black out . . . The enemy is 40 miles away."

Cars halted, their occupants darting for the shelter of doorways. Throngs poured from apartment buildings.

The voice continued: "Be prepared for an atomic attack . . . Run for shelter."

A siren wailed in the background. Near panic developed in the street.

Investigating policemen invaded an apartment house and found Stanley Gordon, 23, grinning happily and playing with a four watt public address system which he had constructed after studying radio in high school.

Gordon said he had no idea that his set had such carrying power.

"I was in my own kitchen," he protested as he was taken to court, adding that he had broadcast with the announcement:

"All enemy planes accounted for and destroyed."

Gordon was sentenced to serve 30 days in the city workhouse on a disorderly conduct charge for "causing fear by broadcasting with an amplifier."

Locust Horde as of Old Plagues Egypt's Fields

CAIRO, Egypt—Once again Egyptian farmers are battling the plant-eating locust. Since Biblical times, the insect has been one of the most serious agricultural pests plaguing that country.

Peasants who tilled the rich Nile Delta soil under the Pharaohs suffered from locust invasions which destroyed all vegetation in their path.

This past summer, large swarms of them crossed the Red Sea and invaded Ethiopia, Somaliland, French Equatorial Africa and the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan adjoining Egypt. They laid eggs in all these regions.

Now the scourge has penetrated along the Nile into Egypt. It could be dangerous if uncontrolled because Egypt is an agricultural economy. Egypt produces much of the world's long-staple cotton.

Graham - Henson Wedding Vows Are Solemnized in Lovely Candlelight Ceremony in Bride's Home

MRS. NOLON HENSON, JR.

In a candlelight service Wednesday morning, December 27, in the home of her parents, Miss Bobby Graham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Graham, became the bride of Mr. Nolon Henson, Jr., son of Nolon Henson of Wichita Falls and Mrs. Florence Henson of Oklahoma City.

Rev. Elmer Henson of Houston, uncle of the groom, read the double ring ceremony as the couple stood beneath an arch covered in green lemon leaves and centered with a cerise satin bow. On each side of the arch were branch candelabra and basket arrangements of white glad ioli and Rome Glory roses. The drawn drapes of the two picture windows of the Sun Room furnished the background for the setting.

At the piano Lucille Henson of Houston presented the pre-nuptial prelude. Mary Lois Henson of Houston played "Ave Maria" on the violin after which Bettie Graham, sister of the bride, sang "Through the Years." "To a Wild Irish Rose" was played softly during the exchange of vows. Bettie Graham sang the "Lord's Prayer" by Malotte as the benediction.

Candlelighters were the ushers Paige Carruth and Jackie Cooper of Canyon.

Bettie and Billie attended their sister as bridesmaids. Their ballerina length dresses of sky blue nylon net were styled with a plain top, Peter Pan collar, and double net gathered skirt over an underskirt of ruffled taffeta. They carried nosegay bouquets of camellias with satin bows and tufted nylon net to match their dresses.

As maid of honor Mable Graham, sister of the bride, wore a ballerina length dress of royal blue nylon net styled similar to the bridesmaids' dresses. Her nosegay bouquet was also of camellias with satin bows and tufted nylon net to match her dress.

Billy Jess Cox of Plainview served as best man while Paige Carruth and Jackie Cooper were ushers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a lovely gown of Chantilly lace over white satin. The gown was fashioned with a fitted bodice fastened low in back with self covered buttons and a high Victorian collar effect. The dress yoke was outlined in seed pearls and the long fitted sleeves came to petal points over her hands. The short fitted peplum came to a low point in the back. Her fingertip veil of nylon net bound in Chantilly lace fell from a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of Rome Glory roses with dark green velvet leaves.

For something borrowed and blue, the bride wore blue velvet shoes belonging to her sister Mable. Something old was the loveliness given by her grandfather to her mother when she was a child. The six-pence she carried in her shoe.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Graham wore navy lace. Mrs. Henson, mother of the groom, also was attired in navy lace. Their corsages were of gardenias.

At the reception held in the dining room immediately following the ceremony, the bride's table was laid with a linen over organdy cloth. The table was centered with the bride's bouquet and at one end was the three-tiered wedding cake iced in white and decorated with pink roses. The cousins of the groom, Lucille and Mary Louise Henson poured while Mable Graham served the cake.

For their wedding trip through the Mexico, the bride chose a light navy satin suit trimmed with self color velvet collar and cuffs. She wore navy velvet accessories, a cerise hat and a corsage of red roses. On January 1 the couple was in El Paso where the groom made movies of the West Texas-Cincinnati football game. Since January 3 they are at home at 706 27th Street, Canyon.

The groom is attending West Texas State where he is a senior, and the bride is transcript clerk in the Registrar's office at West Texas State.

MYF OF METHODIST CHURCH HAS NEW YEAR'S SERVICE

On December 31 the senior Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Methodist Church sponsored a Watch Night Service for the membership of the church. Immediately after the evening preaching hour, the group met in Fellowship Hall for an evening of table games, directed group games, and a sing song. Refreshments of cookies, open face cheese sandwiches and Russian tea were served to approximately 30 guests.

At 11:40 the group was directed to the sanctuary of the church for a worship service the theme of which was "God Is Within." Anna Lou Samuelson, Rev. H. L. Thurston, Bettie McGee, and Eugene Hill presented the program. The services closed with a period of meditation and a prayer for world peace. Florence Coffee was at the piano. Vergie Haines is sponsor of the group.

Forest Fire Damage Cut By 'Keep Green' Program

Citizens of the state of Washington are organized to prevent any repetition of forest holocausts like that which occurred in the state in 1902 causing millions of dollars worth of damage.

In eight years this public spirited group operating under the banner "Keep Washington Green" has worked wonders in helping to reduce the number of forest fires, acreage burned, and resulting dollar loss to the state.

Gov. Arthur B. Langlie of Washington in a speech before the annual meeting of the Keep Green group pointed out that in 1941 a total of 1,446 man-caused forest fires burned 46,600 acres. Last year, he said, less than 500 fires, including those caused by lightning, burned a little more than 6,000 acres.

He gave credit to all the forest protection forces in the state working to prevent and suppress timber fires, but particularly stressed the splendid work the state and local organizations of Keep Washington Green has been doing in educating the public on forest fire prevention.

The Keep Green program idea was launched in 1941 in Washington to enlist citizens' support in reducing the state's forest fire damage. Since then it has spread to 25 other states under banners of Keep Florida Green, Keep Maine Green, etc. The program is sponsored nationally by American Forest Products Industries, an organization supported by the lumber, pulp and paper, and plywood industries.

Do not Blame the Shipper For Poor Quality Potatoes

If potatoes found on the retail market are of poor quality, the fault is probably centered around the conditions under which they were grown and harvested. The tubers suffer very little from the handling they receive in transit and merchandising, investigations conducted by W. A. Lee and M. J. Caraccia, agricultural economists of the Pennsylvania agricultural experiment station, indicate.

Numerous inspections were made last fall of potatoes originating in nearby counties and destined for the Philadelphia markets. Eighty-five lots inspected at shipping points averaged 5 per cent grade defects; 121 lots in wholesale warehouses, 5.6 per cent; and 138 lots in retail stores, 5.8 per cent. External defects of these potatoes ranged from 93 to nearly 100 per cent of total defects. Old cuts, bruises and sunburn accounted for almost three-fourths of all defects.

In a midwinter investigation conducted in Philadelphia stores a years ago 1,242 lots were inspected, which averaged 14 per cent external defects. These potatoes originated in various parts of the United States and only 20 lots had no external defects. Only 3 per cent of the external defects consisted of new cuts and bruises.

Our Weight on Moon

How much would a person who weighs 200 pounds on the earth weigh on the moon and other planets? He would weigh about 33 pounds on the moon, 58 pounds on Mercury, 172 pounds on Venus, 74 pounds on Mars, 528 pounds on Jupiter and 234 pounds on Saturn, while at the surface of the sun his weight would be about 5580 pounds. This depends both upon the mass of the planet and its size. Jupiter, for example, is about 318 times as massive as the earth but the surface of Jupiter is about 11 times as far from the center as we are from the center of the Earth. This reduces the net effect, so that the force of gravity on Jupiter is only about 2.64 times that which we experience.

It's No "Cow Town"

Long famous for its livestock and meat packing industries, Fort Worth, Tex., continues to be the largest livestock market and packing center in the South, and now is the largest sheep market in the nation. It also claims an industry of the imminent present—the most important military aircraft production in the world. It has the world's largest aircraft factory, Consolidated-Vultee, and is also the headquarters of Convair. Adjacent to Convair is Maj. Gen. Roger M. Ramey's Eighth air force. This air force, employing the giant B-36 super bomber, is the only atomic bombing military organization in the world.

"Air-Conditioned Capital"

Phoenix calls itself the "air conditioned capital of the world"—and with justification. All homes, restaurants, office buildings, theaters, hotels and motor courts are cooled by refrigeration or air conditioning, assuring complete comfort at all times. Motorists traveling over state highway 87 and those on U. S. highway 80 and 89 certainly should pause to visit the Casa Grande national monument, located only a few miles from the town of Coolidge. Those funneling into the state from the east on U. S. highway 60 pass through the very heart of the Fort Apache Indian reservation, offering sights seen nowhere else.

Bufs Defeated Denver Team in Basketball Sat.

The West Texas State Basketball Buffaloes defeated the visiting Regis team from Denver Saturday night at Burton gym by a score of 72-67. The Buffs have won five games and lost five against the best teams of the Southwest so far this season in preparation to the hard Border Conference schedule which gets underway this week.

The Buffs were out in front after a few minutes of play and never gave up this lead. It was one of the roughest games that has ever been played in Burton gym, with the visitors losing several of their leading players near the end of the game by the way of personal fouls.

Austell Burrus was back in part of the game with the Buffs after an emergency operation while the team was on a trip to Kentucky early in the season.

The first Border Conference game will be played Wednesday night at Burton gym against the powerful New Mexico Aggie team. This team has been called one of the best in the Border circuit.

Following the Aggie battle, the Buffs will meet the University of New Mexico on Jan. 6; University of Arizona on Jan. 16; Hardin-Simmons University on Jan. 29, all in Burton gym.

The new gymnasium will not be ready for games this season as contemplated when work was started on the building.

Teacher Says 21 Most Dangerous Age for Drivers

CHICAGO—Prof. A. R. Lauer, director of a driving laboratory at Iowa State College, told the National Safety Council meeting in Chicago recently that men can drive better than women but they don't. The male is more skillful at the wheel of an automobile but the female seems to have more sense, and the man has more police tickets and more accidents.

Professor Lauer said his research project found that the most dangerous age for drivers is 21, and not the teen years. His study, aimed at finding better driver educational methods, was devoted as much to the differences of age groups as it was to the sexes as automobile operators.

Men Drive More

The difference in accident susceptibility between men and women was statistically small when considered in relation to miles driven, he said. About 75 per cent of all licensed drivers are men. They drive 90 per cent of total mileage and have 91 per cent of the accidents.

Professor Lauer found that women were better drivers than men in the ages 16 to 33, the men were better drivers than women from 33 to 40, and the women were better drivers from 41 to 53. Over the age of 55 the men have fewer accidents in a mileage basis.

The professor obtained his information by a sampling of 7,692 cases drawn from the Iowa drivers license files and subsequently polling by mail.

Conclusions Revealed

Here are some of his conclusions: 1. Women have better attitudes toward traffic ordinances than men.

2. Potential skill alone does not necessarily mean safe driving. In general men have more skill than women, but women between 17 and 28 have one-fourth fewer accidents for a given mileage than men of the same age group.

3. From the standpoint of safety and from an actuarial point of view, the male group from 20 to 24 comprises the worst offenders. Women drivers have fewer accidents than expected in this group.

4. Aggressiveness and lack of judgment on driving hazards seem to stand high as the cause of automobile accidents.

5. The index of accidents per 100,000 miles for men is highest at the age when they should be most skillful.

6. The incidence of accidents among men goes up significantly above the age of 65. Among women the dangerous age arrives about five years earlier.

Professor Lauer found that although, on a mileage basis, accidents experienced by men were only slightly more numerous than those experienced by women drivers, the severity of the accidents may be more important than the number.

Saucy Mouse Sits On Trap, Sets Trade Wheels Turning

LONDON, Eng.—Because of an impertinent mouse, a Birmingham industrial plant is in disgrace.

The saucy creature sat on a British made mousetrap, ate the cheese and scampered away. The trap didn't click.

The man in Port of Spain who purchased the trap was angry. He took it to the British trade commissioner at Trinidad and pounded the table.

The trade commissioner could not snap it with a pencil, so he sent the trap 6,000 miles by air mail to the board of trade in London. A civil servant worked all day to identify the manufacturer.

Then the trap went by post to the board of trade's Midland office. The regional technical officer couldn't make the trap snap, so he went with it to the factory.

The engineers were called into consultation. A wire wasn't bent just right. A touch of the pliers at the right spot was all that was needed. Directors of the mousetrap company decided to put the offending trap into a glass case, and the man in Trinidad gets a new one.

"Our first complaint," said the general manager of the firm, which exports 13,500 mousetraps a week.

German Youths Make Home In Vault of Bombed Bank

FRANKFURT, Germany — A steel safe of a former local bank has become home to three young Germans.

The bank was blasted to bits by allied bombs in 1944, but under the pile of burned rubble the safe was left intact. A young couple and a single friend found it and decided to make it their improvised home.

They had lived in parks and the railway station after coming to Frankfurt early in May. Their present home is 12 by 9 foot room 9 feet high.

"It took us a whole day's work to swing open the 500-pound steel door, so we could get in," said one of the refugees.

The door is left open all the time for air. A built-in gate of iron bars serves as door and window. A wooden ladder leads down to the rubble covered ground outside.

Human Hair Plays Important Part In Crime Detection

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J.—Dr. Leon A. Hausman, professor of zoology at New Jersey College for Women, has become a leading figure in criminology through his knowledge of human hair.

In 1928 Dr. Hausman's testimony in a hit and run case set a precedent in American criminal jurisprudence. It marked the first time a court ever had allowed the identification of a human being to be based completely on the evidence of a single particle of hair.

Dr. Hausman explained that the hair fragment in question, found on the fender of a hit and run automobile, possessed a peculiar structural design under the microscope which made identification certain.

In another case, Dr. Hausman's research helped to right a miscarriage of justice in Oklahoma. His microscopic studies of hair found in the room of a murdered woman proved the man accused of the crime was innocent. He was freed after spending two years in prison.

Dr. Hausman's testimony isn't always a matter of life and death. Once he proved that a woman was underestimating the value of a fur coat to evade payment of an inheritance tax. Under the professor's microscope, the garment turned out to be a $6,500 natural mink instead of the $1,000 dyed mink its owner claimed it to be.

Dr. Hausman, who has devoted more than 30 years to the study of human and animal hair structure, has solved problems for government agencies, individuals, industries and museums as well as police.

He says hair is not as definite an identification as fingerprints, but "sometimes criminals who don't leave prints around leave hair."

Pennsylvania Discovers

Draft Records of 1777

HARRISBURG, Pa.—Records of what is believed to be the nation's first draft were found recently by state officials digging into old state records.

Auditor General Weldon B. Heyburn said the records are contained in a book entitled "Appeals," dated July 2, 1777, covering mostly Philadelphia draft cases.

The book, of handmade paper and bound in cardboard, contains, in the original handwriting of the appeal agents, the action taken on men who were drafted into the Pennsylvania militia during the Revolutionary War.

Heyburn said draft exemptions in those days were for much the same reasons as today. He said, however, there was one notable exception in draft policy. Men called up for duty could hire substitutes.

Soviet Medical Paper Says 26 Million Americans Ill

MOSCOW, USSR — The Soviet newspaper Medical Worker reports Americans are in a bad way. According to the newspaper 26 million Americans are chronically ill.

The newspaper also reports that eight million Americans are insane; that each year two million Americans lose their ability to work because of accidents; that 18 million are partly or completely unemployed, and that the ordinary farmer or worker rarely is able to undertake treatment to cure a disease because of the expense of medical assistance and medicines.

About 260,000 families are homeless in New York alone, the newspaper said, and claimed the cost of a week stay in the average American hospital exceeds by two or three times the average monthly wage of the average American worker. On top of this, the newspaper charged hospital treatment is seldom possible for the average American. To top its fantastic claims, the paper said that only a small percentage of those ill with diabetes in the United States are able to procure insulin. The drug, the newspaper explained, is in the hands of monopolies which intentionally restrict production to small proportions to get an exorbitant price for the product.

The article concludes: "The exclusively low level of public health in the United States is an expression of the general fate of capitalism, under which even poverty and illness are a source of enrichment of a small group of capitalists."

Arrested 'Graduate' Tells Of Safe-Cracker's School

CADILLAC, Mich.—Dale Line, 22, of Evart, Mich., recently arrested for cracking a safe containing $800 in cash and bonds, told police a school for safe-crackers, complete with tuition and movies on how to blow safes, is operated in Chicago.

The ill-starred "graduate" said pupils paid $2.50 a lecture, illustrated with moving pictures. He refused, however, to tell who operated the school or where it was located.

Chicago police said Line told them that whenever anyone in Chicago can't open a certain type of safe, there is a telephone number to call and an expert will take the job for half the proceeds.

Line said he met his "professor" in a Chicago bar, and after telling the man that he was an ex-convict, the safe expert invited him to become a pupil.

How Much Do You Think Advertising Cost?

100 to 1
Your Guess Is TOO HIGH

Take, for instance, a widely advertised can of soup that you purchase from your grocery store for 10c.

Then ask your neighbor how much of that 10c goes for advertising. She'll probably say, "Oh, about 1 or 2c" or "10 to 20%."

That is where you can correct a great American illusion. The actual cost is only 36-1000 of one cent.

And actually advertising absorbs its cost because without the wide volume of sales brought about by advertising, the soup couldn't be sold for 10c. In fact, this soup 15 years ago cost you 12c retail. Advertising by expanding distribution and increasing sales, made economics possible which cut 2c or 16% off the retail price of soup.

ADVERTISING IS EVERYBODY'S FRIEND BECAUSE IT CONTINUALLY ACTS TO LOWER THE COST OF LIVING.

RESOLUTION

Resolutions are in order as a new year replaces the old, but we are all prone to think up some witty resolution and forget it by the end of January. Ah yes, we have only the best intentions and strongest convictions for keeping it, but the days slip by, and before we realize it, another year has been marked up on the calendar.

If we are to attain the very best satisfaction and happiness in life, we must set high goals and stick by them. That is just common sense. Now is the time for each of us to set new goals for the coming year. Perhaps we could resolve to be a little kinder or not quite so rowdy and boisterous. If worse came to worse, a resolution to study just a little harder might even be worthwhile.

Let every high school student make a New Year's resolution and exercise the will power to stay with it. If the resolution is of true importance, we will never overlook its value in the years to come.

A STITCH IN TIME . . .

As yet this term no student of Canyon High has been injured in a school traffic accident; however, it is probable that accidents will occur as a result of the unsafe practices of some students.

Drivers endanger lives other than their own when they turn and stop without signaling, drive too fast, and park illegally. Pedestrians are often inconsiderate of drivers in crossing streets adjacent to the campus, and endanger their own lives when jaywalking.

School officials are doing their best to remedy these conditions. Parallel parking has saved many a bumped fender, and crosswalks have been marked in yellow for use of those crossing the streets.

In order to obtain their driving permits, licensed drivers have at one time met the requirements of a safe driver. Why not continue to live up to these standards? In the words of the National Safety Council, "The life you save may be your own!"

Infantile Paralysis Can Be Conquered

At the final home game of the basketball season in Crystal Lake (Illinois) auditorium, Jerry Helman, varsity player, sat on the sidelines watching. For three years Jerry had starred on the high school team before an attack of polio incapacitated him. Now, nearly recovered, he was hoping for a last chance to get into the game.

Jerry's comeback from polio had been slow but steady, aided by his own determination and the loyal encouragement of team and coach. A lame leg had not deterred him from traveling with the team when he could, playing with the band, taking practice shots and cheering from the bench.

Now the crowd was rooting for Jerry, hoping he'd get a break. Then it happened. At the end of the third quarter, when the coach sent in substitutes - and with them, Jerry. Pandemonium broke loose. To the delight of the crowd, Jerry, in spite of his limp, was very much in the game. Other boys played well but this was Jerry Helman's day. He had won in more ways than one.

Jerry is typical of hundreds of boys and girls all over Texas who each year face the shock of a polio attack that takes them out of normal activities. The courage with which these youngsters fight back against polio is supported by a whole nation, aroused and organized to conquer this disease that threatens youth.

The supreme effort to restore their usefulness and to conquer the disease before it strikes is limited only by the funds available. Your opportunity is coming soon to help remove the limit to this heroic effort. Be ready to serve in the Texas March of Dimes, January 15-31.

When the school board gets hot coffee, it really gets it! It seems that the coffee wasn't strong enough. Chef E. A. Wooten decided he'd try his hand at making coffee. The idea was fine and so was the coffee until—SPLASH—the hot coffee for a thirsty school board went spilling to the floor. Nevertheless, coffee was served—a little later.

Out goes the old year and in comes the new; and at the same time, out goes the poor, bedraggled, worn-out, 1950 new year's resolutions and in come the bright, hopeful 1951 promises. Here are a few interesting ones from several students in Canyon High.

Ray Burrus resolves to eat his "Krispy Korn Crackles" for breakfast every morning so he will grow up to be a big old bruiser like Hugh Greiner.

Claude Money has set his mind to graduate this spring. . . in spite of Harry L. Garrison.

Make An Investment In Knowledge

Cultivating and training of the mind are highly essential in our day and time. Education was not as important in the period of our grand fathers and fathers as it is in our America.

To keep up with the pace of the Nation, everyone must have a sufficient amount of Education. The United States is enlarging its knowledge in every vocation. New inventions in farm machinery, air travel, industry, science research, etc. have resulted from constant research of educated men. These men have been to schools quite like ours, but have continued their education to colleges, and universities. They have made themselves famous figures in history, because of their knowledge to learn and apply it. Those who are fortunate enough to have a degree must use it in the best way they can. An idle degree from a famous university is of as much use as an idle factory.

Knowledge is something no one can take away from you. You may be robbed of all your possessions, but knowledge will stick beside you until the end. Knowledge is the surest investment.

A minimum of scoring was done in the third quarter with the Eaglettes being held to 8 points and White Deer only making 6, which made the score at the end of the third quarter 25 to 12. The final score was 34 to 12.

The guards played an excellent defensive game while the forwards missed several of their shots but played a good game also.

Our Goal: Better Educated Students

Students better educated in the functions of the local, state, and national government is the goal of the second and fifth period classes of Civics under the direction of Mr. Harry Garrison.

For the first six weeks, the study was composed of different parts of the local government. Different committees in each class worked on the separate departments of the government of the City of Canyon. Some of these were the Mayor's office, the fire department, police department, gas, water, and light companies.

The study of the second six weeks was related to the state government, and more particularly, that of the State of Texas. The office of governor and the state legislature, as well as the state court system were given special emphasis.

For the third and last six weeks of Civics the work pertains to the different parts of the national government. The classes have studied the qualifications of the president and the means by which he is elected. Also has been the main topic of study. Also studied was the Congress of the United States.

One of the high lights of the Civics classes this year was a court session held in each class during the second six weeks. Prosecutors, witnesses, a jury, and even the defendant was chosen from the members of each class.

Licking stamps for a stamp collection is his hobby. Cherry pie and Dr. Pepper is his favorite food and drink. Of course he likes girls, but the ones who think they're smart is his pet peeve. He enjoys coloring with a yellow crayon because yellow is his favorite color. Chemistry is his favorite subject and Mr. J. A. Barnett is his ideal person. If you haven't guessed yet, it's Bob Gibson.

A hobby of playing the piano and telephoning 669-J takes up most of her time spent out of school. Her favorite food and drink is fried chicken and Canyon's soft water. Lois Cox, a missionary to Hawaii, is her ideal person. Snooty people are her pet peeve while speech and home ec are her favorite subjects. Haven't guessed yet? It's Elaine Fisher.

Spanish Students Practice Speaking

Suppose you were in Mexico and wanted something to eat, but you could not speak or read Spanish. You would probably be hungry the rest of the day.

The Spanish classes have found a solution to your problem. They are studying conversational material. The classes are divided into separate groups, and each group carries on a normal conversation (in Spanish). Classes, every-day life, different daily tasks, home and school life, and sports are the main topics.

When the groups are not busy with individual conversations they are listening to records of a man and woman speaking in Spanish, with short intervals between sentences allowing the class time enough to repeat what has been said. The purpose of the man and woman both is so the class will not get accustomed to hearing one.

Miss Alice Payne is the instructor for all the Spanish classes and Spanish club.

FFA Received Charter In '36

To help the future farmers to learn more of their chosen profession, the Future Farmers of America Club was chartered in Canyon High School in 1936.

The purposes and aims of the club are to foster: improvement in agriculture, community service, cooperative activity, leadership activities, supervised farming, improvement in scholarship of the members, recreation, and thrift and saving.

Since its start, numerous improvements have been made in FFA. Proof of the definite livestock improvement is in the fact that eighteen boys in the club own registered hogs and three boys own registered Holstein heifers. Money for these projects was obtained through the selling of concessions at sports events. Other improvements have been made in farm engineering, which was introduced in 1941, the boys have started planting certified seed, and the FFA library has been enlarged.

The FFA Chapter in Canyon this year has as many as seventy-five members, and is sponsored by Mr. T. L. Devin. Officers for this year are: Larry Prater, president; Landon Barrett, vice-president; Doyle Boorn, 2nd vice-president; Jimmy Montgomery, 3rd vice-president; Richmond Payne, secretary; Don Johnson, treasurer; Tommy Gooch, parliamentarian; Donnie Stroup, reporter; Ray Burrus, sentinel; Dwayne Currie, historian; and Don McDonald is song leader. Don Johnson is the District president and Travis Payne is area vice-president. Travis graduated from high school last year, but a member may retain his membership in the club three years after graduation or until he is twenty-five years of age.

Pre-Holiday Meet Held December 19

Approximately 300 Canyon High School students convened in their respective class meetings Tuesday morning, December 19.

Senior students chose the DAR representatives from CHS. They are Merle Bullard, Dorothy McReynolds, and Bettie Slagle.

Members of the Junior Class were informed of plans for a Christmas party to be held December 21, and committees to be in charge of this activity were appointed. Commencement invitations of the class of 1951 were viewed in order to determine whether or not they should be standardized. No decision was reached.

Sophomores elected their class favorites for the 1950-51 school year. They are Bob Ratliff and Tysene Cox. Plans for a Christmas activity were also discussed.

Details of a party to be held by the Freshman Class were presented to this group. Mr. Cecil Briggs was elected co-sponsor. He will assist Mr. Lloyd Johnson.

Burrus Named To All-Regional Team

RAY BURRUS

Canyon's lone representative on the Amarillo News-Globe All-Regional Team is Ray Burrus. Burrus, six foot three inch, 210 pound right end for the Eagles has previously been unanimously chosen as right end to the 1-A All-District team this season.

Beginning his football career here in Canyon High School, Ray played right tackle on the "B" team his freshman year. Ray's sophomore year saw him playing tackle and end on the 1949 District Co-Champs.

A junior with one more year of high school eligibility, Ray does not limit his athletic abilities to football alone. In the 1949 Regional Basketball Tournament Ray was selected to the All-Regional team and following the State Tournament he received All-State Honorable Mention. Ray's track activities have gained for him first place in discus in district and third place in region.

Eagles Blast White Deer

Tuesday night, December 19, in the Canyon gym the Eagles romped to an easy victory over the White Deer Bucks 64-31. This was the Eagles' seventh victory in nine starts.

The "B" team came from behind to down the White Deer "B" team 41-28. White Deer led at the half 22-16. Bob Ratliff led the scoring with 12 points followed by Dick Dawdy with 10 points.

With Ray Burrus scoring 16 points the first two quarters the Eagles led 34-15 at the half. In the limited time the starting five played in the third quarter, Bill Morton racked up eight points. The reserves took over mid-way in the third quarter and finished the game.

Burrus was high point player with 18 points followed by Morton with 16 points.

7,000-Year-Old Spear Discovered In Nevada Cache

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif.—Anthropologists from the University of California have uncovered implements fashioned by primitive man in about 5,000 B. C., the most ancient reported so far in the western hemisphere.

Students working under Robert F. Heizer, associate professor of anthropology, discovered the prehistoric cache in a dry dock shelter at the base of an overhanging cliff near Lovelock, Nevada.

The "carbon 14" method was used to determine the age of wooden spear shafts buried under deposits of rock, dust and bat guano. Their age was fixed at 7,300 to 9,000 years old.

In the upper layers at the excavation site, the archeologists found basket and arrow fragments of relatively recent origin, dating back from about 2,500 years.

Lake gravels at the bottom of the site were estimated to be 25,000 years old.

From these findings and a survey of other sites in the area, scientists now believe that most of western Nevada was once covered by a fresh glacial lake about 600 feet deep.

Heizer said the area was first occupied by man between 7,000 and 9,000 years ago after the lake had receded and then was abandoned because of a dry weather cycle.

The evidence shows that the section was not occupied again until 2,500 or 3,000 years ago, Heizer said. He said the inhabitants who lived in the area during the later period were ancestors of the Paiute Indians, but the identity of the earliest group was not known.

Foe of Meters, She Scorns $1 Fine for 6-Hour 'Term'
 ITHACA, N. Y.—Mrs. T. R. Briggs, wife of a Cornell university chemistry professor, objects to feeding a parking meter. As a result she was sentenced to a six-hour jail term.

Mrs. Briggs objected in police court to paying a "double tax". She told Judge Edward J. Casey that as a taxpayer she already had paid once for use of city streets and that the city's action in charging her again through parking meters constituted a double tax.

"It serves my conscience better to do it this way," Mrs. Briggs said as she marched off to the brig.

Science Discovers Oldest Known Village in World

CHICAGO, Ill.—Science has discovered the oldest known village site in the world.

It is a block square village site in northeastern Iraq that is little more than a mound of dirt—called Jarmo. Chicago scientists, who tested samples from the village on their atomic calendar report it is about 7,000 years old—the oldest known village site.

An expedition from the University of Chicago's oriental institute will go there this winter to search for evidence of "the first great economic revolution in human history."

Robert J. Braidwood, associate professor of old world pre-history and anthropology, said diggers expect to find evidence of town planning—the first row houses and walls known to history.

A representative of the Iran government stumbled onto the site in 1946. Scientists made a preliminary examination of the site three years ago, finding wheat and barley grains, utensils for grinding them, flint tools and snail shells.

Chemical analysis of the amount of radioactive carbon 14 in the snail shells fixed the age of the site. All living things absorb radioactive carbon from the atmosphere in the growing and living process. This halts when the plant or creature dies and the carbon 14 then starts losing its radioactivity at a known rate.

Cleveland Industrial Firm Tells Grads How to Get Job

CLEVELAND, O.—For the June graduate seeking a white collar job, a Cleveland firm has compiled its findings and advice in a book called "Getting the Right Job" from observing thousands of applicants over the years.

Graduates are advised: Never address the interviewer by his first name unless he asks you to.

Go alone. Take a bath beforehand. Don't chew gum. Smile as you enter the office, give your first name distinctly and shake hands firmly.

Don't hang up your hat and coat. Let the company decide if you're going to stay awhile.

Don't beg for a position. Be poised and relaxed.

The book says a deep breath taken before going in for the interview often calms the nerves.

Women are cautioned to avoid wearing gaudy lipstick, fancy shoes, too much perfume or crooked nose seams.

Men, the book says, should wear a pressed suit, a hat, garters and a fresh haircut.

Voluntary pay rises spread over the country: 1,560,000 benefit.

Senator Ernest MacFarland, of Arizona, feels that he is assured of the votes needed to give him the post of Majority Leader in the next Congress. The White House group, now busy trying to round up votes to put over Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney, of Wyoming, started late, and will need much luck to win.

FACTORY WORKERS

The weekly pay check of a married factory worker with two children commands 27 per cent more goods and services than it did in January, 1941, in spite of higher taxes and the post-war rise in cost of living, according to an analysis by the National Industrial Conference Board. Actual weekly take-home pay today is three to five per cent below war-time highs, but the worker can now buy many types of goods and services which were not available during World War II.

IMPERSONATION

A Mobile matron was jailed the other day for promiscuously and publicly kissing members of the opposite sex. It was not stated whether she was charged with impersonating the governor of Alabama or the Vice President of the United States.

Know Your Heart Is Urged by State Health Officer

What do you know about your heart? Do you know that the three major kinds of heart disease are: Rheumatic heart disease, high blood pressure, and coronary heart disease?

One of childhood's most dangerous foes is rheumatic fever, declares Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. A child is most likely to develop rheumatic fever when he is less than 10 years of age. However, the disease is not confined to children. "In World War II, about 40,000 men in the American forces developed attacks of rheumatic fever." This disease may damage the heart valves and muscle. Any child who has rheumatic fever should have the best of medical care, plenty of rest, a special diet, and be free from anxiety or worry. Just because a person has rheumatic fever, is no sign he will have rheumatic heart trouble. But it's important to keep in close check with the family physician.

Coronary heart disease strikes those from middle age group and up, more than other forms of heart trouble. And, it strikes men more often than women. Moderation in daily living is very important, for if a person worries too much, works too hard, exercises too frequently and hard, and eats too much his heart is overworked. Yes, one of the best checks against overburdening the heart . . . is moderation in all things — and plenty of rest.

High blood pressure is another important cause of death. Naturally, the heart has to work harder to pump the blood, when blood pressure is high. An over-worked heart needs the care of a physician.

Sometimes symptoms of heart trouble aren't so noticeable; that is why a regular physical examination is so important.

Heart disease caused by syphilis, congenital heart disease, and heart trouble resulting from an overactive thyroid gland, are a few other forms of heart disease.

Stop and think about it for a moment. Do you give your heart enough rest?

Many Self Hired Folks Come Under New Social Program

Self-employed persons come under the Social Security Act beginning January 1, 1951; however, in most cases the first report will be made at the regular tax paying time in March 1952, according to John R. Sanderson, manager of the Amarillo office of the Social Security Administration.

Among the self-employed persons are operators of stores, filling stations, theaters, taxi cabs, advertising agencies, brokers, and certain others who classify themselves as independent contractors. The law specifically exempts farm owners, physicians, lawyers, dentists, architects, funeral directors, engineers, accountants, and a few other professions.

An individual must have self-employment income of $400.00 or more in a year to become subject to the law. Only the first $3600 income in a year is subject to the tax. The tax rate is 2-1/4% from January 1, 1951 through December 1953.

Partners in a business are considered as self-employed. A professional person may have self-employment income from sole ownership or a partnership outside his profession. Both wages and self-employment income may be credited up to $3600 per year. Benefits are computed from the average wage or average net self-employment income, or a combination of the two.

A free pamphlet explaining self-employment income and other provisions of the amended Social Security Act may be obtained from the Amarillo Social Security Office.

KOREAN VETS

The Senate has passed and sent to the House a bill to give disabled veterans of the Korean fighting the same rehabilitation rights given to service men of World War II. The bill would offer Korean veterans free job training. They would receive monthly Federal subsistence payments while in training, the amount of the payments varying with the degree of disability and the training period.

AIRCRAFT

The airplane industry quickly accepted President Truman's challenge to increase plane production five-fold in 1951. "We did it before and we'll do it again," declared Robert Gross, president of one of the largest aircraft manufacturing corporations.

HOURLY EARNINGS

The average earnings for workers in manufacturing industries was $146 in July, 1950. "Real" average hourly earnings have continued to increase since that time. The July figure compares with 68.3 an hour in January, 1941 and $103 at the end of the year.

William Green, President of the American Federation of Labor, has pledged that the federation's 2,000,000 members would forego strikes during the national emergency if President Truman asked them to.

Modernize Heating System This Summer, Experts Say

Summer is the best time to modernize the heating system, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries bureau.

The summer of 1949 is the ideal time for the overhauling of heating plants because all types of heating materials and equipment are now available and labor is in better supply.

Thousands of heating systems, which survived the war years, are now due for either a thorough-going overhauling or replacement of essential items. There is hardly any phase of home modernization which will bring such an immediate return in economy and comfort as the improvement of the heating system.

The significant progress which has been made by the heating industry in recent years is another reason for viewing older systems critically in the light of new developments in boilers, radiators, convectors, oil burners, stokers, and gas conversion burners, all of which are now in plentiful supply.

Also in plentiful supply is the baseboard heating system which is enjoying general popularity as one of the newest and most interesting developments in heating. New controls are available, both the indoor and outdoor type, which provide precise regulation of temperature for the utmost in fuel economy and comfort.

Heart of the heating system is the boiler. The replacement of many old boilers with modern units designed for the particular fuel to be burned is advisable.

New Cap Lamp for Miners Assures Dependable Light

Development of a cap lamp for miners which gives 25 per cent more light than ever before available from a cap lamp, has resulted from years of work by scientists of General Electric company, Cleveland; Thomas A. Edison, Inc., West Orange, New Jersey; and the Mine Safety Appliances company, Pittsburgh.

This cap lamp has been tested and approved by the U. S. bureau of mines.

A direct descendant of the original miner's electric safety lamp invented in 1915 by Thomas A. Edison, it uses for the first time in any cap lamp a four-cell battery design without any appreciable change in size compared with the preceding three-cell model. It has 100 times more illuminating intensity than Edison's first model. The additional cell provides greater wattage and assures a maximum amount of dependable light during an entire working shift.

Although the Edison lamp was invented originally to improve safety in mines by eliminating open flames in gaseous atmospheres, many design changes have been made during the past 34 years. Today, the lighting ability of the lamps has been so increased that they are used extensively in metal mines and other non-explosive areas, as well as in gassy coal mines, to provide better illumination.

Weed Control for Potatoes

Cyanamid holds more promise for weed control with potatoes than various forms of 2, 4-D, the popular weed-killing chemical. Tests at Pennsylvania's agricultural experiment station the past two years indicate that cyanamid not only gives good weed control but also provides nitrogen to the growing crop later in the season. Prof. J. Stanley Cobb, in charge of the experiments at Penn. State, reports that granular cyanamid was used as a pre-emergence application, placed in a band about a foot wide down the row, at the rate of 400 pounds. This is the equivalent of 1200 pounds if the entire acre was covered. Professor Cobb explained. His tests showed that use of cyanamid boosted the yield of potatoes by 100 bushels per acre as well as controlling grass and broad-leaved weeds.

Finishes Aid Auto Makers

A development of great value to the manufacturers of automobiles has been the perfection of a method by which wood tones and wood designs are pre-printed on a large flat metal sheet before fabrication into instrument boards, moldings, and parts for interior trim. Great simplification, time-savings and avoidance of much handwork are thus achieved. First, the primer and ground coat are applied. Next comes the printing of the graining of wood tone design. Third, the application of the final glaze coat of lacquer.

Invented Self-Starter

Thanks to Charles F. Kettering women are no longer dependent on male muscles to start the car when they wish to go motoring. It was Kettering who invented the self-starter. Before then it frequently happened that milady wrecked her car by trying to start the car herself. Kettering was the gallant knight who settled that problem for all women for all time. Today she merely presses her foot against a small pedal or presses a button with her finger.
